Skills developed in college

You've developed a range of skills through your education, work experience and personal interests and achievements.

Understanding what skills you have to offer and like to use can help you understand what you want in a career, as well as providing key information for job or further study applications.

In terms of securing a job, academic qualifications alone will not guarantee success. Evidence-based skills sections on your CV can demonstrate the broad range of qualities you have to offer employers.

Opposite are some of the main skills you may have developed while in college:

- Communication skills, both verbal and written
Expressing ideas effectively and conveying information appropriately and accurately. Influencing others by expressing self effectively in a group and in one to one situations. Showing a range of verbal and nonverbal signals that the information being received is understood.
- Teamwork/working with others
Working effectively and confidently within a group to achieve a common goal or task. Including understanding your role within the team, and listening and supporting other team members.
- Problem-solving ability
Identifying, prioritising and solving problems, individually or in groups; possessing the ability to ask the right questions, sort out the many facets of a problem, and contribute ideas as well as answers regarding the problem.
- Time-management skills/ability to meet deadlines
Managing several tasks at once; being able to set priorities and to allocate time efficiently in order to meet deadlines.
- Planning and organising
Establishing a course of action for self and/or others to accomplish a specific goal. Planning proper assignments of personnel and appropriate allocation of resources.
- Leadership skills
Motivating and taking responsibility to lead other people, in order to achieve set goals and objectives.
- Initiative & self-management
Identifying opportunities and being proactive in putting forward ideas and potential solutions. Self-disciplined and self-motivated, in the pursuit of studies and professional practice.
- Ability to make quick decisions/work under pressure
Making decisions and taking action. Maintaining performance under pressure and/or opposition.

You may also have developed a wide range of technical/specific course related skills

Types of employers/industry sectors

Some of the main types of employers/industry sectors in which Manufacturing & Design Engineering graduates work include:

- Manufacturing industries (Bio / MedTech / Pharma / Chemical/Food & Bev / ICT etc.)
- Medical Devices/Technologies
- Process industries, including pharmaceuticals, food and cosmetics
- Aerospace and automotive industries
- Oil and gas industries, including petro-chemical industries
- Energy Companies / Renewable and Sustainable Energy
- Energy utilities
- Research and Development
- Engineering Consultancies
- Transport including road and railways
- Irish Defence Forces
- Construction companies
- Government agencies
- Safety
- Education

Self Employment

Ever thought of being your own boss? Think you have an innovative product or service idea that could have commercial value? Want to commercialise your research? See www.tudublin.ie/careers

Other Options (e.g. Time out, travel etc.)

Volunteering and working with communities with is a great way to gain valuable real world experience, to develop new skills, to meet new people, to do something worthwhile and to improve your employability. For more details, see www.tudublin.ie/careers.

Further Study

Are you considering further study or training? See www.tudublin.ie/careers for comprehensive information

Conversion courses

Some graduates find that their primary degree did not meet their expectations, either vocationally, academically or personally, and seek change career direction. Conversion courses offer the opportunity to diversify into another chosen career area while meeting the necessary entry requirements for that discipline. However, it should be noted that this is not the case for all disciplines e.g. disciplines such as science and engineering will require an undergraduate degree in that discipline. Search for programmes at <https://gradireland.com/further-study>.

As with all choices good research and planning are very important. Here are some examples of postgraduate courses pursued by graduates of your discipline:

- ME Advanced Engineering - TU DUBLIN
- ME Mechanical Engineering - TU DUBLIN
- ME Manufacturing Management & Innovation - TU DUBLIN
- MSc in Engineering Simulation and Modelling - TU DUBLIN
- PG Dip Technology & Innovation Mngt - TU DUBLIN
- Masters Engineering/Industrial Management - UCD
- Masters Project Management - UL
- Professional Diploma in Education - NUI, TCD
- Computer Aided Mechanical & Manufacturing Engineering (CAMME) - DCU
- Higher Diploma in Mechanical Engineering (Manufacturing, Process & Automation Systems) - UCC
- Graduate Diploma/MSc in Quality Management - UL
- Postgraduate Diploma/MSc in Industrial Practice - UU, Belfast
- ME Management (Engineering) - UCD

Chartered Engineer Recognition – Engineers Ireland

- See the following link to the Accreditation Criteria for Professional Titles: <http://www.engineersireland.ie/EngineersIreland/media/SiteMedia/services/accreditation/EngineersIrelandAccreditationCriteria2014.pdf>
- Please note that, while chartered recognition may be beneficial for career progression, not all engineering disciplines require candidates to hold chartered status to progress.

Careers open to all disciplines (Including 'Paths Into...' Series)

Many graduate vacancies don't require specific degree subjects as possession of a degree is taken as evidence of intellectual ability. What is more important to the potential employer is the range of transferable skills and experience you can demonstrate.

Many graduate training programmes take final year students from a wide range of disciplines, register with the Career Development Centre's Jobsence for a full list of programmes. Here is a range of career areas that are potentially open to graduates of all disciplines. It's important to note that some of these options may require further study either on the job or beforehand.

If you are considering diversifying or changing career direction a postgraduate conversion course may be a viable option.

Some examples of career areas open to students of all disciplines:

- Teaching & Education
- Financial Services & Accounting
- Marketing, Advertising and PR
- Retail, Sales and Customer Service
- Banking, insurance and financial services
- Charities and voluntary sector
- Fund management / administration and investment banking
- Human resources, recruitment and training
- Management consulting
- Management, business and administration
- Media and publishing
- Public sector and civil service
- Social, community and youth
